Description of the Collection:

Copy photographs and negatives of popular Chicago streets and sites primarily in the downtown Loop area, by commercial photographic studio Barnes-Crosby Company. Many images focus on individual buildings such as hotels, office buildings, stores, museums, theaters, hospitals, libraries, government buildings, organizations' buildings and buildings of the University of Chicago. Includes transportation scenes such as street traffic of horse-drawn vehicles and early automobiles, street market carts and wagons, street railroads, elevated trains and stations, major railroad stations, steam powered trains, boats and ships on the Chicago River and Lake Michigan along with scenes of the docks. Also includes views of major Chicago parks and the monuments and memorials therein, fire departments, stockyards, the White City amusement park, a few large mansions and a scene of an unidentified baseball game. In general, people do not figure prominently in these photographs. Most images are identified.

Also available as 4 x 5 in. copy negatives: ICHi 19001-19300.
