Summary description of the collection:

Correspondence, clippings, reports, minutes, speeches, and financial records of Claude Albert Barnett, the director of the Associated Negro Press (ANP); news releases of the ANP (1928-1964) and of the World News Service (1961-1963). Topics include African American newspapers and journalists; colleges, especially Tuskegee Institute and the Conference of Presidents of Negro Land Grant Colleges; businesses, especially advertising, beauty products, and insurance; churches; hospitals; fraternal societies; entertainment; agricultural extension services; racial segregation and integration of the United States armed forces; the home front during World War II; and African travel and culture, especially in Liberia, Ghana, and Nigeria. Also includes materials on Barnett's family and the singing and acting career of Etta Moten (Mrs. Barnett), including correspondence and advertising.

Some records pertain to Barnett's service as a trustee of Tuskegee Institute (1932-65), as special assistant to the U.S. secretary of agriculture (1942-52), and as board member of Phelps-Stokes Fund, of Booker T. Washington Institute in Liberia, of American Negro Exposition (1940 : Chicago), of Supreme Liberty Insurance Company, of Provident Hospital, of The Liberia Company, and of the American National Red Cross.

Persons who corresponded with ANP or with Barnett include J.V. Clinton, Henry B. Cole, Frank Marshall Davis, Rudolph Dunbar, Alice Dunnigan, Albon Holsey, Harry Levette, William Pickens, Percival L. Prattis, Emmanuel Racine, John C. Robinson, Alvin E. White, and editors and publishers of most African American newspapers, including Afro American (Baltimore, Md.), Amsterdam news (New York City), Atlanta daily world, Black dispatch (Okla.), Houston informer, Kansas City call (Mo.), New York age, Norfolk journal and guide, Philadelphia tribune, and Pittsburgh courier. Other correspondents include U.S. Representative Frances P. Bolton, Horace Mann Bond, Sherman Briscoe, George Washington Carver, E. M. Glucksman, Charles S. Johnson, Mordecai Johnson, Bishop Frederick D. Jordan, Robert R. Moton, Clarence Muse, Frederick D. Patterson, James E. Shepard, Jesse O. Thomas, Channing H. Tobias, President William V. S. Tubman of Liberia, and Annie M. Turnbo-Malone.

Notes about available finding aids:

There is a topical index on paper in the Chicago History Museum, Research Center reading room. The index also is online as two tables attached to the catalog record for this collection: Table 1. Index to U.S. Topics and Table 2. Index to Africa and Other Foreign Interests.

In addition to this descriptive inventory, there are booklets that accompany the microfilm edition of this collection and contain a biography of Claude Barnett and descriptions of the series in the microfilm edition.

Description of some material related to the collection:

Related materials at Chicago History Museum, Research Center, include the Claude A. Barnett collection of visual materials (1980.0213, including the Claude A. Barnett broadsides collection) and the microfilm edition of major portions of the Claude A. Barnett papers by University Publications of America (made in 1985).

Many published items (pamphlets, clippings, press releases) from African countries were transferred to the Melville J. Herskovits Africana Library at Northwestern University Library in Evanston, Illinois. However, most Liberian material was kept in the Barnett papers.

Some Etta Moten Barnett materials form part of the Claude A. Barnett Papers at Chicago History Museum. Another large collection known as the Etta Moten Barnett Papers is at the Vivian G. Harsh Research Collection of Afro-American History and Literature in the Carter G. Woodson Regional Library of the Chicago Public Library system.

There is an Associated Negro Press collection at the University of Illinois at Chicago, Daley Library, Daley Special Collections Dept.

Additional copy available note:

A partial microfilm edition of this collection was created by University Publications of America in 1985, which mostly omits the undated materials, newsclippings, and pamphlets filed at the back of folders. "Series: Africa and other foreign interests" is not included in the microfilm edition at all.

This microfilm may be purchased through University Publications of America, which is owned by LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. Chicago History Museum has a copy of this microfilm edition (cataloged separately) but is not permitted to duplicate or to loan this microfilm through interlibrary-loan services.

The content of this microfilm edition is available as an online digital subscription through ProQuest in the Black Freedom II set. In 2014, much of the Africa and other foreign series was digitized and will be available soon through ProQuest.

Explanation of the format of the list of the contents:

Dates at the end of folder titles apply only to correspondence in that folder and not to undated materials or to newsclippings that may be filed at the back of the folder.

The topic of a folder of newsclippings may be represented also under broader topics in correspondence folders. Miscellaneous or general files may contain items relating to more specific folder topics that follow them.

Some names are listed as labeled on the ANP's office files ca. 1959.
